AWARDS 2010

This years top performers

And the winners are...

Once again, more than 30,000 of our readers were asked to nominate in our fourth annual Law Awards. In keeping with tradition, our readers have chosen firms they feel are the best in their retrospective countries. There are no restrictions on the shortlist, which makes the ACQ Law Awards stand out from the rest.

Winning an ACQ Law Award creates a strong sense of pride because they are nominated by the people who matter the most – those who work within the industry.

Lawyers are advising on an increasing number of mergers and acquisitions as the finance markets improve following the recession. Their efficient work enables companies to have access to services such as due diligence and tax evaluation when working on a deal.

The Law Awards highlight the top firms in nearly 60 countries that help those in need to embrace these challenging deals and come out on top.

The whole team at ACQ Magazine would like to give a big thanks to all those who participated in the Law Awards, especially those who voted.

But most importantly, ACQ Magazine would like to congratulate our winners. Well done and keep up the impressive work!

Now, to end the anticipation, turn over the page to see who the winners are!
